

A Look at the Lazy 8s

Some indicators from the drawing about how the individual learns best:

Visual orientation:
may prefer to have information presented in a pictorial form

Auditory orientation:
may prefer linguistic presentation of information

Kinesthetic orientation:
may prefer tactile experiences and movement to integrate learning

Some indicators of the internal thought process:

Inner dialogue and feelings

More visual construction, less visual memory, more inner dialogue

Strong listening to others

Difficulty listening to others

More right-brain-oriented; stronger spatial and emotional emphasis

More left-brain-oriented; stronger emphasis on sequence, analysis and controlled movement

Access to all sensory modalities

